

Call for Papers: Vol. IV

The NALSAR Media Law Review (NMLR) focuses on the intersections of Law and the Media. With the growing importance of the media in today's society, these intersections have come to the forefront.

NMLR invites you to submit your contributions for Volume IV (2014) in the form of articles, comments, notes, and book reviews. The Journal encourages papers with an emphasis on the manipulation of law by the media, corporate law and the media, the media's influence on trials, paid advertisements, the influence of the media on the implementation of law, the portrayal of law in international media, the media in a globalized legal setup, and other relevant issues.

Kindly submit your contributions (in Microsoft Word, 2003 format) and any queries to medialawreview@gmail.com. All submissions should conform to the Bluebook, 19th edition.

Deadline for Submissions: Feb 28, 2014, 2359 Hrs.

Editorial Board

Shalini Ranjan (Managing Editor), Aditya Vikram, Ajatshatru Pandey, Kritika Sethi and Utkarsh Mishra (Editors).

Advisory Board

Justice Raghuram, Mr. Gurcharan Das, Prof. M. Sridhar, Prof. R. Venkat Rao, Prof. A. Laxminath, Prof. John M. Garrison, Prof. Y. Satyanarayana, Prof. A. Subramanian, Prof. Prasad Krishnamurthy, D. Keshav Rao, K. Ramachandra Murthy C. Ragavachari.

