About Seminar

We stand at the 71st year of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) and human rights have met unrelenting challenges since then. Nine core human rights treaties and a number of further Optional Protocols have been agreed upon to give legal effect to the promises set out in the UDHR.

The Amity Law School Kolkata seminar is placed ideally to provide a platform for discussion, debate and advanced-thinking about both the particular challenge which human rights now face, and innovative ways in which they may be addressed.

Against this backdrop, we aim to address key aspects and themes in the field which connect to our turbulent times and promise to promote a lively engagement and discussion.

At Amity University Kolkata, unrelenting pursuit of excellence is the constant Endeavour. In the years to come Amity University Kolkata will also emerge as a centre of thought leadership that will inspire not only the most brilliant youth of West Bengal, but those from across India and the world.

Amity University is committed to graduating students with the capacity to conquer the global problems we confront, and the humanitarian will to go out into the world to effect positive changes in our society.

About Amity Law School, Kolkata

Amity Law School Kolkata (ALSK) has unique distinction of being the most reputed private Law School in the North-Eastern region of India. Presently it is running five full time law programmes - 5-year integrated BA LL.B; B.Com LL.B; BBA LL.B (H) and Three Years LLB programme affiliated by the Bar Council of India and LL.M (Business Law) programme affiliated by UGC. The vision of the Hon'ble founder President for the Law School is to provide excellence in legal education and research to produce quality lawyers with good moral principles and great human values. Following his path of fostering education, the faculty members are striving to achieve excellence by nurturing and mentoring the students to secure their future goals. The various programmes in law seek to promote multi-dimensional aspects of the socio-legal problems by designing course-structure and teaching methods to realize desired objectives. Our encouragement to the students makes them fully equipped with the perfect blend of theoretical knowledge and practical experience in the field of law to become a responsible member of the legal fraternity. The students regularly participate in commonwealth youth conference, seminar, workshop and various moot court, MUN and debate competitions. They are also doing internship with renowned Lawyers, law firms, MNC's and Apex Court Judges.
