THEME

Environmental Law in Globalised World: Issues & Challenges

2nd INTERNATIONAL FACULTY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM (2nd IFDP)

Environment is the source of pleasure and treasure and at the same time it is the source of terror and agony. Earth is full of resources and that is not only for human being but also for use to all the animals and plants as well. Normal and usual use of resources is no problem but the excessive use of it, the nature does not sustain and ultimately imbalances the whole ecosystem. Subsequently excessive use of natural resources results in excessive waste or pollution, so much that the nature is not able to absorb, make it harmless or purify it. Thus, the conservation of Environment is the concern of everybody.

The legal regimes which are in place to control some forms of environmental pollution viz., United Nations Environment Program (UNEP), established in 1972, is the voice for environment within the United Nations System. UNEP acts as a catalyst, advocate, educator and facilitator to promote the wise use and sustainable development of the global environment.

The world is facing an extraordinary situation with regard to the finite extent of all its natural resources. Thus there is a need to find solutions, frame policies objectively and transparently which will be acceptable to all stakeholders at large, in protecting further degradation of natural resources. This ADYPU 2nd IFDP is designed to deal with the legal issues in dealing with environment shared by stakeholders from all over the world. The objective of this 2nd IFDP is to contemplate over numerous critical issues regarding global environmental change and to come up with effectual solutions. Through this 2nd IFDP we aim to stride a path with a vision towards betterment of global environment as a whole and critically exploring the origins of environmental policy-making and changing modes of environmental governance.
